Urgently taking action to reform broken energy market

From 1st October, a new 'Energy Price Guarantee' will mean a typical UK household will now pay up to an average £2,500 a year on their energy bill for the next two years. This is automatic and applies to all households.

This will save the average household at least £1,000 a year based on current energy prices from October and is in addition to the £400 energy bills discount for all households.

This applies to all households in Great Britain, with the same level of support made available to households in Northern Ireland.

- Typical household will save an average of £1,000 a year on their energy bills, under a new two - year Energy Price Guarantee
- Businesses and public sector organisations will see equivalent support over the winter
- New plans will tackle the root causes of problems in the energy market by boosting domestic energy supply
- Package will boost growth and curb inflation rises
